

Zip Zip My Brain Hurts by Kathleen McDougall, Leslie Swartz, Amelia van der Merwe and photographs by Angela Buckland (HSRC Press)

This book tries to highlight the challenges faced by people with disabilities as well as their families. Angie Buckland, the mother of a disabled child, Nikki, provides us with a personal account of how she has dealt with the challenge of disability.

Her remarkable photographs, interspersed with challenging text, are a unique expression of the fullness of human experience, with all its joy, pain and confusion.

Simple suggestions for a sensational life! by Paula White (Struik Christian Books)

In her characteristically upbeat style, New York Times best-selling author Paula White shares insight and wisdom for developing a life that soars above the ordinary – a sensational life lived by God's rules in God's way.

Paula's message of hope and help will encourage individuals to step out of the past into a bright future.
